Tuesday's Flashnews (unedited copy)

Finally grains prices crashed limit down, buy Base metals, corn, wheat and coffee on Tuesday

Dear Members,

Here is today's flash as complimentary copy for lifetime members, we are in unique era of financial market history and if you like to take advantage of this cycle then subscribe daily flash or weekly newsletter because old letters won't be able to help you much. Subscriptions cost is nothing, just $17 a day against the risk you take in this most unpredicted market.

On Monday most world markets traded positive, but in commodity, energy and grains prices fell sharply. Soy and meal fell almost to limit down as expected, soy and meal fell over 6% in a day. Dollar went below 80.00 level and thirty year bond remain sideways. Precious metals gained as predicted from lower levels.

Once again tech and biotech stocks gained value, tech showing most encouraging sign which is supporting Nasdaq trend.

This week is short as Friday US exchanges will be close for trading. People are not much invested in this market as they either don't have confidence in this rally or growth, or they have missed investing at lower levels and now they don't want to get in so people are waiting to enter into market. Huge money is sitting on the sideline, so remain watchful and keep adding quality stocks on our recommended stocks.

This is what we mentioned yesterday and we are not changing any predictions: USD is struggling around 80.00 levels since the last 2 years; as we mentioned, the era of USD has changed, so watch carefully and get into the longer term trades. The best advice is buying call options or selling puts in frontline currencies.

Stay away from energy stocks and other commodity stocks. Financial has to bottom out to take this market to new levels. Energy stocks traded negatively with energy futures; oil is struggling but it looks like it will make a final attempt to move higher before it starts moving down. The same story will be in precious metals, but keep adding corn and coffee.

This week, the employment report and next week earning sessions are starting so traders will be focusing on these events. Our recommended stocks did very well; hold position in tech and biotech stocks, and add more financial. Energy stocks traded negatively, avoid buying any positions in energy stocks.

S&P must close above 1955 for bullish directions; we will be watching this level closely.

This is what we mentioned on the 18th of May (two days before the market started rebounding, as we predicted a huge rally starting from the 21st of May in all major indexes): In short, time is running out for most analysts who have been predicting a fall or crash. Investors will miss the opportunity of buying; in fact, they will go in the red if they short stocks and indexes, so we warn these analysts to advise investors carefully. We see a huge move coming from the 21st of May and S&P will achieve 1955 from the current levels of 1870.

In April when markets were falling, we predicted S&P won't go below 1825, and by the 15th of June, it will achieve 1932 to 1955.

Here are the trading ranges and strategies for Tuesday:

METALS

On Monday metals recovered from lower levels as predicted, also Tuesday we may see positive trend continuing. Buying around predicted lower will be best strategy but if gold traded above $1327 on Tuesday then it can touch $1343. In our weekly newsletter we mentioned that this is final positive week for metals.

Hold positions in base metals, add more platinum and Palladium on Tuesday. Don't short copper as it may move toward $329 to $335. Medium term outlook for base metals is far better than precious metals.

This is what we mentioned yesterday: On Monday we see a mixed trend to continue in metals, so trading in and out will be the right strategy. The lower side will remain limited as astro combinations are mixed to bit positive on Monday.

Metal stocks will trade positively on Monday. Read our weekly newsletter carefully for a clear outlook. If gold crosses $1327 and trades above this level for 4 hours, it will confirm it going toward $1343 (chances of this happening is 5%). We are still confident that gold may come back to lower ranges in 10 days.

Base metals will trade mixed; trading in and out is recommended as mentioned in the ranges below here.

Palladium and PAL/SWC look like great bets.

This is what we mentioned on last Monday: If gold trades positive and closes above $1327 for two days, it can push gold toward $1389. At this stage, $1327 is the most important astro resistance, so watch this price closely. If gold fails to move higher, then it will move back to $1281. Silver will have a tough time to cross $21.03. Buy some more call options in GLL and DUST because we still doubt this rally, but surely in 2015 it will be a different story in gold.

This we predicted on the 14th of February 2014: A sharp fall in gold prices can take place from or after the 21st of May to the 11th of June.

Here is Tuesday's range: (September 2014 contract):

GOLD: $1334.80 to $1317.80

SILVER: $21.33 TO $21.02

COPPER: $321.90 TO $317.00

PALLADIUM: $850.90 TO $840.90

PLATINUM: $1502.90 TO $1482.10

INDEXES

On Monday, most of world market and NASDAQ traded positive. We still recommend holding positions in NASDAQ as tech stocks will take this market toward new high. Also half year ended for all market and it is very clear that investors gained money so far in 2014 and most of world market performed extremely well except China.

On Tuesday we see most of world equity markets trading sideways, surely we see some profit booking but we are not recommending any short in market. S&P is trading around 1955 level which a great sign and if its trade above this level for two days will push S&P toward 2000. Down side we see strong astro support at 1942 and 1932 level.

This is what we mentioned yesterday: There is no doubt that the era of tech stocks have come back with solid ground; not like 1999/2000 where valuations were most of the companies calculated on future growth without any earnings and most of the stocks were trading with a very high PE ratio.

Now the story is different; every corporate and intuition is entering a different era where new technology is breaking grounds every single day. We strongly recommend holding quality tech stocks for another two to three years as we see NASDAQ moving 10000. Tech and Biotech will be responsible for this historic move.

This is what we mentioned three week back on Thursdays: It looks like NASDAQ and S&P Indexes are ready to create history. Ignore most of the expert because they don't have any interest in you; they do what suits them and they dump, when you are a buyer.

This is what we mentioned on the 12th of May: The 1868 level is testing the patience of short sellers and buyers. We are really surprised how important this level has become in the market because I know billions of dollars follow our advice and many big guys are watching these levels closely. Anyway, the worst period of 2014 for stocks is about to end soon, so hold buying positions tightly as short sellers will run for their lives if they don't get out from shorts at this stage because from the 20th of May 2014 bull cycle will start.

Here are Tuesdays' ranges: (September contracts)

AUSTRALIAN (SEP) – 5406 to 5351

NIKKEI (June) – 15268 TO 15045

NIFTY S&P (Spot) – 7655 to 7590

HONG KONG (cash) – 23379 to 23109

CAC – 4450 TO 4408

DAX – 9910 TO 9815

DEX EURO STOXX – 3250 - 3214

FTSE – 6740 TO 6688

FTSE/JSE – 46275 to 45790

S&P – 1961.75 TO 1949.25

NASDAQ – 3857.50 TO 3830.25

RUSSELL – 1195.90 TO 1182.20

DOW – 16801 TO 16689

TREASURY BOND

On Monday, the thirty year bond trade mixed; we still see a huge fall coming from this Thursday, so hold your put options positions tightly. Thirty year bonds won't go above the 138 level, so between 137 and 138.

We are strongly recommending to buy put options of the September 131 strike prices, which are trading around 0-09.

The thirty year bonds traded mixed. 128 is a very strong astro support point which we predicted six months ago when we recommended selling at 150. In 2006 we predicted the rise of the thirty year bond from 107 to 150, which was achieved in 2012, and then we predicted prices to fall from 150 to 128, which was also achieved within 10 months. Two months ago, we were expecting bond prices to rise back to 137, and they went a bit higher during the last week, but the overall astro indicators are guiding us well. In the coming time, Bond prices will go below last year's low and may stabilize around 118, so this clearly indicates that selling will bring us profits in the medium and longer term bases.

Tuesday trading range (September contract):

TREASURY BOND – 137-12 TO 136-20

SOFT COMMODITIES

On Monday soft commodities traded mix without any clear directions. Same kind of trend will continue on Tuesday so avoid any trade on any side but late Wednesday we are recommending some buying coffee and sugar, also cotton will bottom out. This is what we mentioned yesterday: Don't buy coffee and sugar on Monday, but surely Wednesday/Thursday will be right day to bet big.

This is what we mentioned two weeks ago: Keep adding call options in coffee, sugar and lumber. Coffee trends should be watched closely; the higher side $188 is an astro resistance, but once it crosses this level, it will confirm that coffee is going toward $257. Sugar will keep moving higher.

Tuesday trading range: (September/OCT 2014 Contract)

COFFEE: $178.20 TO $171.10

COTTON: $74.00 TO $72.75

SUGAR: $18.20 TO $17.80

COCOA: 3150 TO 3099

GRAINS

Soy and meal selling recommendations done amazing well. Soy and meal prices fell around 14% from its high. Hedging trade done also well, keep adding corn on lower side and avoid any buying soy. Buy the longer term call options in corn and wheat.

This is what we mentioned yesterday: Soy, meal and soy oil will keep trading negatively, so selling around the higher level mentioned here below is recommended. Corn and wheat should be bought around the lower side ranges mentioned below.

Wheat and soy product will trade in ranges, but the higher side will remain limited. This is what we mentioned last month: We strongly recommend trading with put options in soy and call options in corn. We see corn prices moving toward $600 in the next two months. Any rise in soy and meal should be taken as a selling opportunity. As mentioned, we don't see soy prices going higher than 1515 and wheat $720, so sell around these prices. Meal will follow soy. Holding put options in soy can bring a windfall in the next three months.

Tuesday's trading range September 2014 contracts

CORN: $428.00 TO $415.50

WHEAT: $586.00 TO $570.00

SOY: $1170.00 TO $1147.00 (November)

SOY MEAL: $399.00 TO $389.10

SOY OIL: $39.40 TO $38.80

ENERGY

We are not changing any predictions in energy of what we mentioned yesterday, trading in and out will be best strategy at this stage in oil, heating oil and RB gas because still oil is trading around 105.50 which is most important level. Today we see some rebound in oil prices from predicted lower range so buy oil around lower side, here is what we mentioned yesterday and keep same predictions for today: Energy stocks traded negatively. Oil is refusing to move higher at this stage, but the final ten positive days are pending, and after that huge correction, it will start, so watch the trends closely. We recommend reading our weekly newsletter for the overall trend.

On Monday, we see a mixed to positive day in energy, but closing below $105.55 will be negative news for oil. We recommend trading in and out in oil, heating oil and RB gas on Monday. Energy stocks will trade mixed to negative.

Natural gas traded negatively as predicted during last week; this week also has the same kind of trend.

In short, oil may trade in the ranges of $105.55 to $108.78 at this stage. On the Iraq war situation, oil was unable to break the higher side of $108.78 and that confirms that oil will struggle to move above $108.78.

This is what we mentioned two Mondays ago: This Monday, we are recommending buying oil around lower sides. Natural gas will also move higher, but at this stage, our recommendations is buying oil and RB gas. Also, a positive trend in oil may support energy stocks and bull ETFs. If oil trades below $102.38, then avoid any buying in oil and book profits around $104.55. If oil prices close above $104.55 for two days, it can push oil up to $108.80. Natural gas will remain in a positive trend until it remains above $4.57.

Tuesday's trading range (All August 2014 contracts):

OIL: $106.12 to $104.70

NATURAL GAS: $4.49 to $4.38

HEATING OIL: $3.0020 TO $2.9600

RB GAS: $3.0720 TO $3.0210

CURRENCIES

On Monday US dollar traded below 80.00 levels, last year USD held value around 79.50 level, and we still believe that dollar will be able to hold value of 79.50 at this stage. This is perfect bearish trend before historic bull market starts so keep adding USD at this stage.

What happened on Monday will continue on Tuesday in all major currencies. Thursday will be most important day for USD and it will rebound big way so watch USD trend closely and plan your medium and longer term trade well.

This is what we mentioned on Monday: This Monday, we see a mixed trend in all major currencies as the Moon is in Cancer and may bring a both-side trend. British Pound and yen will trade mixed to positive and Commodities currencies like Australian and Canadian dollar will gain from lower levels, so buying around lower sides and booking profits at the higher side will be a right strategy in currencies.

Euro and Swiss Franc may trade positively on Monday, but the higher side will remain limited. We recommend trading in and out in both these leading currencies.

A major support for USD will remain at 79.78 and 79.50 as mentioned two months ago, so at these levels one should aggressively buy USD. In this week's newsletter, we mentioned USD predictions in detail, so read them carefully. Mercury will be changing directions from Thursday and can push USD or we may see a huge reversal, so one should get ready to load up.

In the Kitco interview, we mentioned that the 14 year bear cycle of USD has ended. It is always great to enter the trade which is either at the bottom or at the top, and options trades are a great bet at this stage. Buy puts in euro and Franc, for details please read this week's newsletter.

This is what we have been mentioning since many months: Keep adding USD on any weaknesses on Tuesday or around 79.50. Sell Euro around 1.3988, and Swiss Franc around 1.1470. Emerging market currencies will trade a bit weaker or sideways from Tuesday. We strongly recommend taking some buying positions in USD around 79.50.

Tuesday's trading range: September contract

DOLLAR INDEX – 79.98 to 79.62

AUSTRALIAN DOLLAR – 0.9399 to 0.9339

CANADIAN DOLLAR – 0.9383 to 0.9319

BRITISH POUND – 1.7140 to 1.7074

EURO – 1.3747 to 1.3675

JAPANESE YEN – 0.9909 to 0.9860

SWISS FRANC – 1.1329 to 1.1252

RUPPEE – 60.25 to 59.91 (Spot)

RAND – 10.74 to 10.62 (Spot)

Best trades for Tuesday's:

Buy base metals on Tuesday,

Don't add more dollar, just put limit order to buy at 79.50

Buy coffee, corn and wheat on Tuesday

Reading daily range: When we predict a weaker trend it means prices can break lower side and they can trade below predicted lows. (You can cover short but don't buy extra at lower levels until our indicators give buy signal).

When we predict a positive trend, means daily price can break upside and they can trade higher than predicted price (you can book profit but don't short that market).
