Weekly Newsletter of 20-24 April 2015

Aggressive buying US stocks and Indexes is recommended

Dear Members,

Last week on Friday we saw sudden weakness arrive in most of the global markets after China instructed funds to withdraw margin from over the counter stocks which created panic in the international markets. At this stage we would like to keep very simple advice which may help you to make investment decisions without any confusion or fear.

Our job is to read the astro cycles and predict investor's behavior pattern. At this stage we are not recommending investing money in European and Asian markets but one can add more positions in USA market, India and London. One should start building up positions in Brazil and Russian market as they have become our favorites even though there are many issues with both these the regions as the astro indicators are favoring Brazilian and Russian market for investment.

According to astro indicators we still believe that S&P will hit 3200 by end of 2016, and we still believe that this week market will roar, and tech stocks will move up aggressively.

Plan your longer term and medium term trading well. Frontline commodities will start trading negatively and still the positive time cycle hasn't started so avoid.

Currencies will trade directionless but still dollar will hold value above 95.00.

Astro cycles are here to guide us so please take advantage of the oncoming wave. USA market is getting ready for a big move and hopefully most of the predicted targets will keep fulfilling.

Fridays weakness was brought on by the New Moon so this was one day event and you will experience a positive trend from this week.

Most of the predicted ranges are working well so short term traders should watch our levels closely. In the weekly newsletter we just put Monday's ranges and they are not the weekly ranges but we always put important levels which should be watch closely.

Here is this week's newsletter from 20-24 April 2015

GOLD/SILVER/BASE METALS

Last week gold and silver traded mixed without any clear direction. At this stage short term traders are taking benefit on a daily basis. Except for gold and platinum most of the other metals May call options will expire this week so we will see volatility.

This week Monday looks mixed to a bit positive for metals in the morning hours in Asia and Europe but in the USA market from mid trading sessions metals will start giving up some gains so this is a great time to sell some positions in copper, silver and other base metals. Gold will also give away some gains.

On Tuesday and Wednesday metals will trade mixed or on both sides but still the undertones won't be exciting so avoid any positions.

On Thursday and Friday once again we recommend selling metals at higher levels.

Metal stocks will trade mixed without any clear directions.

Buy DUST if it reaches to $12.50 as from there it will start moving higher for the medium term.

GLL and DSLV will be moving higher from next week so Friday will be the right day to build positions in both these ETF's.

Gold will trade in the range of $1214 to $1191. If gold breaks $1214 then $1224 is the next level and on the down side if its breaks $1191 then $1181 will be the support level. Gold shouldn't break $1181 under any circumstances because then the metals market can turn very bearish. The Bull should pray that gold doesn't break $1142 level otherwise a nightmare time can arrive for metal investors.

Here is Monday's range: (May 2015 contract):

GOLD: $1212.80 to $1197.00 June

SILVER: $16.45 TO 16.12

COPPER: $282.00 TO $277.00

PALLADIUM: $790.00 TO $779.00

PLATINUM: $1181.00 TO $1161.00

INDEXES

Last week on Friday S&P and NASDAQ lost big value. Traders and investors started dumping excess buying holding positions. Friday was options expiry of April which also forced traders to close positions. Chinese ETF lost big value in USA and may see Chinese markets opening negatively on Monday but the down side will remain limited.

At this stage USA is our favorite investing destination, so keep adding USA stocks and other assets class.

On Monday we strongly recommend holding positions in the market and those who would like to add positions can do so without fear on Monday. On Tuesday one can start building up short term aggressive trades in the market and keep adding positions in tech and biotech stocks. Financials will trade mixed so DOW won't be able to perform that well but Tech and Small caps will move up aggressively.

On Wednesday both side moves will continue but according the astro cycle the market will take some rest. On Thursday and Friday stock prices will move aggressively higher in the USA markets.

Don't buy any positions in Japan and European markets. Avoid emerging markets except for Russia, India and Brazil. UK market will trade stable compared to other European markets.

Selling Japan and European market will be a great hedging trade against buying of USA market. This will be a great hedging trade and we are sure you will make net Money.

Short JPNL, and buy EWV. EWV will give you exposure of short in Japan and selling JPNL will do the same. You can take either of these trade's. Follow our daily stock report for more trades. (Japanese shorts are only recommended for the short period as during the next two years the global equity market will remain in a bullish trend).

Short term: Strong buying is recommended but take some hedging trades by selling other markets.

Medium and longer term view is very bullish for USA markets and a few emerging markets.

Soon many struggling markets like Greece and Ireland will also bounce back. Russia, Indian, Brazil, Cuba and Iran will be also be great places to diversify for the longer term.

Here are Mondays' ranges: (June contracts)

HONG KONG (cash) – 27709 to 27100

NIKKEI – 19770 TO 19457

NIFTY S&P (Spot) – 8645 to 8535

NASDAQ 100 e-mini – 4380.50 TO 4320.25

RUSSELL e-mini – 1260.50 TO 1242.00

DOW e-mini – 17945 TO 17700

THIRTY YEAR BOND

Thirty year bond gained value on Friday due to weakness in USA markets. This week our recommendations is still the same of buying put options or buying calls in TMV and TBT.

This week on Monday take some short term aggressive selling in thirty year bond or take some short term buying in TMV. From Tuesday to Friday Thirty year will keep losing value but take buying in longer term EU bond as this will provide you with great returns against selling Thirty of USA.

The Astro cycle has changed for Thirty year bond, and now it is just a matter of time before it starts losing sudden value. Last year when we were speaking the same way for USD in the month of May no one wanted to believe us and we still keep recommending buying put options which provided handsome returns for those who took selling positions in EURO or buying USD.

At this stage exchanges are not providing any longer term put options in Thirty year futures market so only TMV and TBT are the longer term trades available. In TMV and TBT 2017 call options are available.

Monday trading range (June 2015 contract):

TREASURY BOND – 165-32 TO 164.05 (June contract)

SOFTS

Currently the astro cycles are not showing any signs of a major rise for the short period but the medium and long term trend is still intact. The astro cycle showing great positive signs for cotton, coffee and sugar from 14 May 2015. We recommend longer term traders to start taking call options in these three softs.

Short term traders should trade in and out or avoid trading until 14 May because once SUN changes house on 14 MAY will bring positive momentum.

On the down side we don't see coffee going below $130, cotton below $61.80 and sugar $12.60 so buy if softs come to these levels.

On Monday softs will trade mixed to negative so avoid any trade. On Tuesday we may see some buying coming in and a positive trend continuing on Wednesday and Thursday. On Friday once again prices will trade mixed. The price move will remain sideways.

Monday trading range: (May 2015 Contract)

COFFEE: $141.10 TO $136.35

COTTON: $64.07 TO $62.80

SUGAR: $13.40 TO $13.03

GRAINS

Last week grains traded mixed to negative. Grains are trading mixed and will trade directionless until 12 May 2015. There is no need of buying any aggressive positions in the grains market at stage but longer term call options are recommended. Those who like to trade short and medium term should avoid any aggressive positions in grains.

Corn and wheat are our favorite trades in grains. Soy, meal and soy oil will trade mixed or on both sides.

On Monday keep adding positions in corn, and on Wednesday one can add wheat. Wheat prices will gain at least 30% from current levels and in the next six months and corn will also move 20% higher.

Soy and meal will trade in a volatile trend with both sides move.

Get ready to take positions after two weeks.

Monday's trading range (May 2015 contracts):

CORN: $384.00 TO $376.00

WHEAT: $498.00 TO $488.00

SOY: $979.00 TO $963.00

SOY MEAL: $317.40 TO $312.00

SOY OIL: $31.80 TO $31.30

ENERGY

Last week oil, heating oil, RB Gas and energy stocks moved sharply higher. It was some relief for those who were long in energy since the last year because the current positive move is giving hope to investors. Our buying recommendations that oil won't fall below $44.55 level has done amazing well. Six months back energy investors at least got an idea of how low oil could go and that played a key role for big investors.

Now oil is trading around $56.00 level, June contract is now active, and on the higher side it may test $59.88 to $60.29 but the lower side still risk of weakness is pending. We are not recommending any aggressive positions at this stage in oil or in energy stocks. Those who bought positions in oil, heating, RB Gas, ERX and energy stocks should close positions if you haven't closed.

Don't short oil and energy stocks on Monday but watch ERX closely as we don't see ERX closing above $71 levels so sell oil once ERX reaches $71.00 levels.

On Monday oil will trade mixed to on both sides. Any weakness should be taken as a buying opportunity. On Tuesday oil will remain in a positive direction but late in the evening we see profit booking coming back in the market so avoid any new buying and we recommend closing all positions.

On Wednesday weakness will continue in oil and energy stocks so take trade accordingly. On Thursday and Friday both sides move is indicated.

Monday's trading range (May 2015 contracts):

OIL: $58.35 to $56.70 June contract

NATURAL GAS: $2.72 to $2.57

HEATING OIL: $1.9225 TO 1.8850

RB GAS: $1.9650 TO $1.9020

CURRENCIES

Last week currencies traded on both sides without any clear moves. Canadian dollar AND Pound gained during last week. This week we strongly recommend buying Japanese Yen on Monday without fail because we see Yen gaining at least two to three percent during this week.

The rest of the currencies will trade mixed or on both sides. USD may remain in some pressure but one should remember that our longer term target is still on for 120. Buying USA and selling oil remained the best call of the last nine months.

On Monday we see a mixed trend taking place, and most currencies will try to gain value but Japanese Yen will come out as the winner. This week we are not recommending any other currencies for positioning trading but one can hold Japanese Yen till Thursday morning.

From Monday to Wednesday USD will trade mixed to a bit weaker but on Thursday and Friday once against USD will gain value. We recommend traders should trade most currencies on both sides mentioned ranges in the daily Flashnews.

Keep accumulating emerging market currencies as most of these currencies will gain nice value including Russian Rubble. Indian Rupee is our favorite among most of the emerging market currencies. Peso and Real will bottom out during this week so one can plan currency ETF's as well.

Monday's trading range: (June 2015 future contract)

DOLLAR INDEX – 98.05 to 97.01

AUSTRALIAN DOLLAR – 0.7810 to 0.7705

CANADIAN DOLLAR – 0.8239 to 0.8115

BRITISH POUND – 1.5039 to 1.4930

EURO – 1.0905 to 1.0769

JAPANESE YEN – 0.8450 to 0.8383

SWISS FRANC – 1.0562 to 1.0465

RUPPEE – 62.65 to 62.40 (Spot)

RAND – 12.12 to 11.92 (Spot)

Final note:

1. Most of the world's markets will remain mixed to bit weaker for the short term but for the longer term they will still move 50% higher from current levels. USA market will keep moving higher in the short, medium and longer term basis.
2. Zero interest rates in EU and historic low interest rate in USA will change fundamentals for corporate house for first time in their history. Paying higher interest rates fear will go away which will make them take more risks to create better products which will drive the economy higher. Current low rates have created magic for corporates and this magic time is not there for the longer term. Rate rises will be slow but after two years cautiousness will come which will turn into fear.
3. This week the best call is buying NASDAQ and USA market. Avoid the rest of the financial instruments.
4. Keep away the thought of shorting the market because shorts have not been working since 2011 and won't work for the next two years.

Thanks & God Bless

Reading daily range: When we predict a weaker trend it means prices can break lower side and they can trade below predicted lows. (You can cover short but don't buy extra at lower levels until our indicators give buy signal).

When we predict a positive trend, means daily price can break upside and they can trade higher than predicted price (you can book profit but don't short that market).
