Weekly Newsletter from 30-4 December

Stocks are best investment, and they provide great returns in the longer term but not commodities...Please respect law of nature – Do not share or forward letter to anyone...

Dear Members,

Last week the markets performed well on the expectation of a vaccine coming out, but on the other hand precious metals lost value on vaccine news even though the FDA has yet to approve a Vaccine so imagine what will happen on the day of approval.

Dollar index has been losing value non-stop, on the other hand Rand and Peso performed amazingly well. Dollar has always performed well in the longer-term trend against every emerging market currency, but has been fluctuating against frontline currencies like Pound, Euro, Yen, and Franc in the last twenty years, but remember that from 2023 onwards, and the time to invest is beginning in the currency market.

Base metals have performed amazingly well in 2020 even though there was no real reason for this rising trend. Many suppliers are arguing that it's because of the Pandemic, and limited supplies. It will be interesting to see how base metals prices perform in 2021.

I don't want to talk much about coffee because I will have lot of time to talk about it as it's our favorite pick of 2021. We need to plan coffee trade carefully. Grains and softs acted mixed and may struggle for a few weeks.

Now coming back to main issue that many still don't understand, and that is why the markets have moved higher globally during the 2020 pandemic. Short sellers lost a huge amount of wealth, and those who were hedging also missed a great money-making opportunity as the hedging trade took away their profit. Those who were scared to enter the market during the Pandemic also missed one of the best bull market rallies.

The Astro cycle guides us as to which direction the market could move in, and for what time frame the bull or bear market to continue. We always write a few points which we feel may be helpful in planning after watching my own work over three decades, and these are a few points that I keep publishing from time to time to remind traders because they are so important in helping create wealth:

1. We always recommend following longer term investment rather than focusing on the short term. You can see example of last ten years for those who bought stocks and still you are holding on to them. May got out early because they were not aware where market is going.

One of members sent a message last week saying that; he trusted our predictions and vision for Tesla and Musk, he bought $10 million worth of TSLA in early 2019 but got out after it doubled, he said that he made the biggest mistake by selling, even though he knew our prediction of TSLA becoming the most valuable company on Wall-street. If he was still holding TSLA, then his TSLA positions could be been worth $120 million dollar. This is an interesting story and a great example for everyone to learn, and that is the reason I never recommend investors to buy quality companies for the short term if I see market and that sector or a particular stock moving higher.

2. I recommend investors to trade or short-term speculations only with 5% to maximum 10% of their total capital. I have seen few people losing 90% of their wealth trading aggressively and speculating, so please do not adopt this habit.
3. Do not put a stop-loss, just get out if you do not like the trade. Do not over analyze any trade once you have entered it with conviction.
4. Stocks are great investments; commodity, and currency trades are speculative, and none of the commodities have moved higher consistently over a longer period, they can move sharply higher and then can move sharply lower. Surely when they are cheap that is the right time to invest but then no one can point out where its going to top out on the higher side. I always recommend trading commodities and currencies only with 5% of your capital because they are already very highly leveraged trades. It is very difficult to buy and hold positions because of the storage problem or volume, they also have an expiry and depreciate, so except for precious metals, none of the commodities can be held physically. If you are buying Gold, silver, and platinum with cash money, that is a real investment, but buying future positions involves huge risk. You can buy hold currencies with cash money, once again buying in the future market surely involves risk because futures trades are risky.

5. Do not read too many analysts because too many views will misguide you. I never watch financial TV channel nor news. Surely, I just read the headlines to know what is going on around the world. Follow people and check their track records of the last few decades because right now in a world with social media any one can create a YouTube or WhatsApp Video and you can get trapped. I receive so many junk messages from people but I simple delete those, mostly Social media is to remain connected, or sharing some fun stuff, not more than that.
6. Most important role – Meditation can help you in planning investments. It can control short term greed or wrong decisions. You can also find your own cycle by watching your current cycle whether your decisions things are going in your favor or against. You can analyze yourself, if you are making errors in the decisions that you make, and if so, it means that your time cycle is not positive because you are making the wrong decisions. It is very lengthy subject about how to analyze we and I don't want to go too deep into it.

Final note: You can invest and can keep making in the medium to the longer-term, but aggressive leveraged bets for the short term can bring huge risk.

Invest in the area or strategy which has been working well. In the last twenty-five years we are lucky to find every area, sector, or stock to invest well in advance. I still believe that EV Car related area, Tech stocks, and healthcare area has great potential to grow or will create a great amount of wealth for investors. Look at these stocks performed if you have simply remained invested rather than trading these stocks. TSLA closed at $587 on Friday.

Watch the important support & resistance levels for this week (30th Nov – 4th December 2020):

- Gold may have astro resistance at...

Let's see about this week strategy from 30 November to 4 December:

GOLD/SILVER/BASE METALS

Last week precious metals performed horrible negative even on positive days which is not good news but I have good news for metal investors is that gold and silver are...

INDEXES

Last week markets moved higher, many of Indexes closed at all-time high. MRNA and BNTX gained value as expected. In the last one-month MRNA gained from $67.00 to $127.00 and further higher, amazingly well.

Also TSLA moved to all time high. Many stocks are holding value, and many are ready to create huge amount of wealth in coming time. ZM is one stock to watch carefully as it is in our longer-term buying list.

Many small cap stocks are coming forward, Russell 2000 moved aggressively higher since last two weeks and still has power to move further higher. Our recommendations of Chinese market start moving higher from June 2020 predictions done well and I will not surprise at all if it moves toward 5000...

ENERGY

Last week oil prices moved higher along with heating oil and RB Gas. Natural gas remained in the mix directions. Energy stocks remained in the mix trading pattern. We have been recommending...

CURRENCIES

Last week dollar index lost further value. Many institutions traders are whether USD is adopting longer term bear market or not....

All major Emerging market currencies will act differently like last eight months Brazilian Real have traded negative but on other hand Mexican Peso and South African Rand moved higher. Indian Rupee gained some value but remain more stable. It will be interesting 2021 for emerging market currencies and I will try my best to write overall trend in 2021 book.

Here are astro cycle prediction for this week:

GRAINS

Last week grains acted mix and struggled to move further higher. At this stage we are not recommending any buying in grains. Overall weakness is expected in grains in the month of December so no buying is recommended, in fact remain short in grains as they have achieved top last week.

Here are astro cycle predictions for this week:

SOFT COMMODITIES

Last week softs traded mix without any clear directions but coffee made huge come back on Thursday and Friday. Coffee still looks, no need to book profit if you like to hold positions for the medium to longer term...

THIRTY YEAR BOND

Last week Bond prices remained in the mix directions. This week we see trading pattern in Thirty Year bond. Still trading ranges will be 170-00 to 175-00.

Here are astro cycle predictions for this week:

Thanks & God Bless

Reading daily range: When we predict a weaker trend it means prices can break lower side and they can trade below predicted lows. (You can cover short but don't buy extra at lower levels until our indicators give buy signal).

When we predict a positive trend, means daily price can break upside and they can trade higher than predicted price (you can book profit but don't short that market).
