15 December 2011 Flashnews

Dear Members,

Wednesday across the board we saw huge sell off in almost each and every commodity. The fear of debt situations in Europe and concern of deflations are becoming fear factor in all major financial instruments. Traders are selling everything; also year-end is in two weeks so not investors like to commit themselves.

Our theory must be the first one to warn on Europe and Euro in the end of 2007 when we were coming out with our previous book "2008/9 World & Financial...", so this uncertainty of Europe is not surprising us at all but surely deflation and cheap money availability in banking system but it is not encouraging buyers to buy housing, commodities and other financial instruments and that is a concerning issue for many intellectual investors.

At this stage every financial tradable products/instruments are treated as risky assets because current sentiments have changed to negative so people want to hold cash and waiting for a better opportunity to get in back in market.

Since July 2011 we have been warning on commodities and stocks markets as we saw volatile time but our warning is now ending in 48 hours so get ready, fasten your seatbelt for the most exciting ride in financial market.

Today we came out with strong statement; don't get nervous, don't get influenced by negative statements that are saying fall or crash in market and commodity market (especially gold/silver), just ignore all these experts advise. Most of you are aware that the wave of nature and astronomical movements has guided longer term trend well in advance in the last fifteen years.

Today once again I am recommending that you should start accumulating S&P and metals and many soft commodities from late Thursday. Since the last two weeks we have been mentioning that in the financial market time is very uncertain until 23 December so take this also into account but don't wait until 23rd December, you can start accumulating small position before.

At this stage S&P is a great buy because our call is S&P reaching 1600 next year and 3500 by end of 2014 (I know no one will believe this). You have to get ready, you have to plan well for medium and longer term trade from here onward. Soon we may hear news of Euro zone downgrade and that will be the last negative news.

Gold and silver will also be good trades, which can provide us huge returns in medium and longer term, so we have to plan well in these metals. I think silver will touch $68 first before gold hit $2300.

Once again our buying call on US Dollar was proven very accurate. Keep holding position in dollar, avoid emerging market currencies as they may keep falling down, avoid other currencies against US dollar as dollar will keep moving higher constantly for the longer term. We may see dollar index 100 and euro back to par value but our shorter term focus is on S&P. Longer term dollar and S&P will move up together.

Our book "2012 Financial Predictions" will be out on Friday so get ready to order. This time I tried to cover all major commodities, currencies, and Indexes and their monthly cycles. Order few copies together for friends and colleagues as this will be a great gift who want to invest and trade in markets.

If my theory or prediction come true then we will see gold reaching $2300, silver may touch $70 and S&P 1600 in medium term. This means the most exciting time in the market is on its way.

Metals should bottom out today, but buy after 11.50 AM New York time as important Astro cycle is changing, avoid any trade in Asian and European market sessions. We don't see gold going below $1545 and silver $28.50 and around these levels you can acquire metals.

Thursday's trading range will be:

GOLD - $1552.2 to $1697.8

SILVER - $28.83 to $30.32

COPPER – $324.20 TO $335.10

PLATINUM - $1402 TO $1438

PALLADIUM – $605 TO $635.90

All major stock market will trade mix so you can trade in and out within predicted range, once can acquire small position at lower level. I will be buying some S&P around 1197, and will add more on Friday without fear. Historic bull market in stocks is on the way.

Two week back we mentioned “Buy dollar against Peso, Rupee, Real and Rand as great time to make money during next two this week”.

Emerging market currencies have performed very negative against all major currencies, but against dollar these currencies had free fall. Our predictions of selling emerging market currencies in the last five months made fortune for traders. Now we are very close top so time to windup these emerging market currencies trades.

Note: Whenever we talk about weaker trend, you should be selling around higher predicted price in the flashnews, when we predict rising trend means you should buy around predicted day low in above mentioned range. In weaker trend prices can fall below predicted range and rising trend prices can rise above our predicted range. 80% time days predicted range will match with our predicted range,

Thanks & God Bless
