Why traders won't able to trade bear market, this fall will different from 1929, 1987, 2000 and 2008

Dear Members,

Today morning I was once again thinking about the oncoming bear market trend and decided to start this week's newsletter with the same subject, but I thought that you will think I'm trying very hard to convince you about my prediction of the oncoming bear trend and the crash in stock prices. Many will think that I am predicting the bear market because of my failure to predict the outcome of the US election. Many think it's because I don't like Trump.

No, my predictions are not based on my likes or dislikes, in fact, to be completely honest, I don't hate Trump. I think he is a courageous person and he is fulfilling the promises he made to his supporters during his campaign which is something hardly any politician does after they get elected, but I personally feel that his supporters could go too far and do nasty things like killing and attacking minorities. He has to make a strong speech and give a clear message, not just one line to calm down his supporters, otherwise this country can become divided. Let's come back to the financial market because my focus is 100% there and not on politics.

When anyone talks about a crash, the first thing that comes to mind is 1929, 1987, 2000, and 2008. Each of these crashes were different and after every crash the market gained value. The 1929 crash was the worst one because the recovery time was very long and investors suffered very badly. The 1987, 2000, and 2008 crashes were sharp but the market recovered very quickly.

Most of you are aware that I was able to predict recent three bull cycle from Feb 1996- Dec 1999, August 2003- July 2007 and March 2009 to Jan 2017, and we were able to predicted two worst bear cycle from 2000 to 2003, and 2008 August to 2009 February. Now once again, I am predicting a bear market in the middle of 2017 but before I talk about 2017, lets go back and check what happened during the previous crash and how this oncoming fall will be different and how to prepare yourself because this is not a joke, it is a serious matter as your whole life's savings can be wiped out. I am not predicting the crash because of Trump, or because I want popularity. The astro cycles have provided me with many great predictions over the last 30 years and those who know me closely are aware of my work.

1929 Crash:

Dow Jones started moving higher from June 1921 to June 1929. DOW Jones Index moved almost seven folds, from 59 to 381, but then it gave away all gains, in fact it went lower and tested 1904's lows. It took 24 years to come back to 1929's highs. Despite of warning on speculations by FED and negative economic indicator DOW JONES kept moving higher aggressively from March 1929 to May 1929.

Yes, we can easily argue that technology was not there to take care of the crash mess. There was manipulation and too many people were borrowing to buy stocks etc. In my theory, every event has an astro reason which influences human behavior pattern and that is the reason I was able to predict 2000 and 2008 crashes. I was 19-years-old when crash happened in 1987, I was in India and believed that prices would bounced quickly in the coming year.

In early 1929, the economy start struggling but the market still kept moving higher and higher. Many blamed overproductions of grains which created a price problem for famers which lead to a crash in the equity market in the last quarter of 1929. At this stage the market and the global economy are doing fine. Neither is the economy is in problem, nor is it over heated, so why do I still see a problem for the stock markets trend? Why will the fall in market come?

There is no doubt that I am struggling to guide overall picture of this bear market because on one side I see a sharp fall in the market during mid 2017 onward, and then I see the bear market continuing for many years in the leading markets. On the other hand, I see the emerging markets doing fine. When I predicted the bottoming out USA MARKET by 6 of March 2009, I was aware that this rally could go on for seven years. I also predicted that DOW Jones would hit 32000 in the next five to seven years (this interview with Jack is available on our website) but that never happened. Yes, the market had a non-stop rally as predicted but our target was not achieved. 26 Feb 2009, was very dark day for the market and on same day I was sounding so bullish and optimistic but Wall-Street listeners were not giving any importance to what I was saying. There was so much noise out there in the market about fear and loses that investors were just not ready to believe anything positive. In 2007 everyone knew that I am very bearish on market but hardly anyone acted on that, they never believed that the market or crash would come; a few banks would fall; oil would go back to $30 from $140; and even that natural resources or mining investors would lose the fortunes they made from our advice from 2001 to 2006. In 2007 hardly anyone was ready to believe what I was saying. It is always the case that people didn't believe me when I came out with strong predictions, but if they did, then they could have made fortune.

Yes, there is no doubt that the oncoming time will be very tough and complicated for investors, financial advisors and money managers. All of you pay such a high price for my services and I need to give you clear guidance about the coming time so let me try to represent the oncoming picture of the stock market one more time so that you can plan your trades and investments carefully.

On other hand we see very negative trend in all major commodity specially metals and energy, and we are still warning commodity traders to stay sideline without taking any buying positions.

Here are my predictions from March 2017 to December 2017:

My predictions are purely based on the astro cycles. If they were based on fundamentals, technical charts or on economy then I wouldn't be saying what I'm saying because everything seems okay and surely anyone will say that a small correction here would be great for the market.

In my astro research I have learnt something very unique, and that is that whenever a major negative cycle is about to start for any market, the behavior of the market becomes more aggressive in one direction, like what is happening currently. If the astro cycles were stable then I could have even recommended today that the market can keep rising but I see that hidden forces are getting prepared for a major uncertain trend.

I already mentioned many times in the last two months that the market would crash any time from June 2017 onward and the situation may get very nasty. I know the market is moving higher, many say, "Mahendra, the Dow could test 32000 as predicted." I have to respect the astro cycles and currently they are on edge. The cycle is about to break and everything can get messy. In 2000 we predicted a crash in the market due to the tech bubble bursting. In 2007 we predicted a crash in the market due to a crash in the housing prices and the fall of a few banks. What could trigger the crash this time? I don't see one specific reason which I can say for the market crash. Surely political uncertainty could be a key factor like the French election, EU break-up, bad news from China, or major policy changes from President Trump could bring sudden dark clouds or fear in the investor community which could trigger a sell-off. It may look like everyone wants to get out from the market on the same day at the same time.

Remember this line - If fall starts in 2017, then this bear market will last for a minimum of 29 months.

Middle of 2017 surely the bear market will start, but it can also start early and that's the reason I have been recommending to keep buying put options in 2017 September/December contracts. The Astro cycles are showing that the market is price in 100% but it can still keep moving on both sides before it collapses.

I have stated many times that it is very difficult to hold shorts at top prices and it is very difficult to buy and hold at a lower price, if anyone is able to do it, then he/she can make a fortune. Right now it is very difficult for me to sell my bear market predictions to investors because the masses are not believing in it. Two weeks ago we stated that 2405 would be the max high for S&P, I have been wrong for few weeks or a few months, but I have never been wrong for the long period.

The Market might have made a top last week and may not test this level again; or the market can move higher or remains around here for a few months, but one thing is for sure and that is that the market is heading for a 20-30% corrections which could take place in 2017. Trade carefully, cash in your retirement account. Don't do anything aggressive.

Here is this week newsletter from 6-10 March 2017

GOLD/SILVER/BASE METALS

Last week metals stocks suffered a setback and gold moved with a mixed pattern. Base metals including silver lost some value on Wednesday and Thursday. Gold is hanging around $1239. On Friday, most of the metals recovered from lower ranges after the FED Chair Q&A sessions. Now traders will be focusing on the oncoming FED meeting.

Traders are becoming bullish about gold, and other precious metals. Also traders are bullish about mining stocks but our view is still very cautious about metals. Last week a few of our members asked, "Mahendra, you are predicting a fall in market and top in dollar which should support metals but why are you not predicting bull run in metals?"

Yes, initially these can help gold but in 2007/8 we recommended not to buy metals and metal stocks if the market falls, and few banks collapsed. I still remember that few of our members sent me an email saying that if a few banks fail then Gold would go to $5000. We all know that metals lost big value with market fall and mining stocks lost 90% value in 2008.

Gold, silver and metals are trading instruments now; people trade and if they hit margin call then they have to sell. Only those who buy physical gold are true investors of gold, not those who buys in futures market.

If the market falls the way I see, then gold will also fall at the same time with the market, and metal stocks can get murdered so don't buy or believe in the theory that the fall in market could support gold prices.

Currently gold is walking on very thin ice, all major planets are in support for gold since early this year but we have been predicting negative trend because only one planet, which created bear market in October 2011 in gold from $1928, is still in a negative zone. My problem is that I don't predict anything positive until the longer term astro cycle doesn't change directions so until that I remain very skeptic or suspicious. Yes, I want change this especially for the short term basis, and if short term planets turn positive then I should recommend buying, but then I will be conflicting with my theory. Yes, I write in the weekly newsletter positive and negative days but still I follow longer-term picture.

This week from Monday to half day Wednesday metals will trade negative....Subscribe to read complete outlook.. <http://www.mahendraprophecy.com/weekly-newsletter-subscription.php>

Monday's trading range: (May 2017 contract):

GOLD: $1243.90 to $1227.00 selling is recommended higher side.

SILVER: $18.25 TO $17.73 selling is recommended higher side.

COPPER: $272.10 TO $266.50 selling is recommended higher side.

PALLADIUM: $775.90 TO $755.00 selling is recommended higher side.

PLATINUM: $1006.90 TO $985.50 selling is recommended higher side.

INDEXES

Last week markets traded higher but failed to carry momentum on Thursday and Friday. Financial MEDIA, FUND MANAGERS, Hedge funds, Etf's or index fund people keep talking positive about the market. Once again my advice of to stay cautious about market new because very loud music is playing out there about bullishness.

I like to follow astro time cycles, I am neither bull or bear, I just predict what I see and that's the reason I predicted three bullish cycles from 1996 February to 1999 December, 2003 September to 2007 July and 2009 March to January 2017. Astro cycles were very bearish from January 2000, August 2007 so we warned investors and now From February 2017 our view is very cautious and will turn extreme bearish from the middle of 2017 so we are predicting a bearish trend.

If I am not mistaken, then the market has made its top during last week, and the market may keep rebounding from lows in the next three months before they give up and fall towards new lows. A very dangerous time is coming ahead for investors and I don't why no one sees this.

Don't bet on short-term trades, otherwise your trade will expire worthless so focus on September or year-end contracts. As I mentioned in the first section, the market may bottom out in the first week of December so plan your trading and investments accordingly.

Last week we predicted that the maximum high S&P could test is 2405, and we still hold this prediction. Short-term bearish bet trade could be taken with very small money, major bet should be taken for the Third and fourth Quarter 2017.

This week markets may not be able to hold value because Monday is a negative day for the market so the week will start with negativity. Tuesday and Wednesday will be the most crucial day for the market because if the market fails to close in green on both these days that could be worst news for the bull.

On Thursday and Friday markets will trade...subscribe to read complete report...

THIRTY YEAR BOND

Last week Bond prices traded as predicted. We don't see much down side at this stage. If Thirty-year bond moves towards 147/148, it shall be taken as buying opportunity. We are recommending to buy Thirty Year bond around lower sides on Monday but trade with very light volume.

On the Higher side we see Thirty Year testing 153 once again and the maximum high could be 155 level.

Remain a short-term trader in Thirty Year at this stage until our predictions get released. Best trade is over from 174 to 148, which was predicted very accurately. Two weeks back we recommended buying around 148/149 with target of 153, which got fulfilled and we recommended last to book profit around 153.

On Monday we see some positivity Thirty Year on the lower side but book profit on Tuesday as on Tuesday and Wednesday some weakness will come. Subscribe to read complete report....

SOFT COMMODITIES

Cotton has been performing very well, stay long in cotton with a very strict stop-loss.

Sugar prices traded negatively; this week we are still recommending selling sugar on any rise. Sugar will bottom out around $17.00, so expect 10% corrections in sugar prices in the coming time. A major positive time cycle will start in sugar from May 2017, so at this stage remain as a short-term trader. Selling on the higher side around 20.98 was proven great trade, also last week we recommended selling at $19.98 and still we are recommending selling at $20.00 with target of $18.45 level.

Cocoa, lumber and orange Juice have been trading directionless. Small buying in cocoa is recommended but no leverage positions yet. Avoid trading all these three softs during this week, one can hold their short positions in lumber and orange Juice.

ENERGY

Last week oil prices traded negative, energy stocks also traded negative but natural gas traded stable. We really enjoy predicting oil because it has been moving as per our predictions since the last 17 years. Last week oil traded negative, which is negative news for oil and other energy products.

This week oil prices will trade lower and may find some support around $49.88 or $48.88 level. Short-term short traders can cover some short at $49.88 level, if oil trades below $49.88 then.... Important note – The next two weeks are very crucial for oil, and if oil fails to perform from this week Wednesday to next week Friday then oil surely can fall 20%. If oil performs well from Wednesday, then there are chances that it can test this year's high...

CURRENCIES

Last week dollar performed very well as predicted against frontline currencies from Monday to Thursday. On Friday profit booking came in and dollar moved down sharply. It closed below 101.55 level which is negative news for USD but still 100.55 will remain a major astro support point for USD.

We are recommending booking profit in emerging market currencies like Real, Rand, and Rubble, don't buy these three currencies. Hold positions in Rupee and Mexican Peso. Last week Peso performed very well and still the positivity will continue. Cover your shorts in USD/Peso around 19.10 level. Medium and longer-term traders can still stay long in Rupee and Peso with the target of USD 64.88 and 17.12 level.

Frontline currencies traded sharply lower in the middle of the week but on Friday they rebounded very strongly. We recommend to keep accumulating in Japanese Yen, and keep buying Pound on the lower sides. We don't see Pound going below 1.2051, and Yen 0.8678. On the Higher side both these currencies can move 5% higher in the month of March.

Euro, Franc, Australian dollar and Canadian dollar will struggle. On Monday and Tuesday all these currencies will give away Fridays gains. Thursday and Friday...subscribe weekly Newsletter to read complete report.
